CORONADO ANNUAL SESSION: MAY 25-28

Annual Session of California Medical Association Only One Month Distant.—"Time marches on" and, almost before we may realize it, the sixty-fifth annual session at San Diego will have convened, adjourned and taken its place in the records of events that have been.

In this issue are printed the programs of the general meetings, the twelve scientific sections, the Woman's Auxiliary, and also the order of business of the House of Delegates, together with other activities or features, such as scientific and commercial exhibits, all of which will be in evidence at the Hotel del Coronado in San Diego for this year's annual session, officially announced to commence on Monday, May 25, and to carry through Thursday, the 28th.

On Sunday, the Cancer Commission and pathologic programs will be given. On that day, too, the first annual conference of standing committees with State Association officers will take place, and also the first meeting of the State Council.

The business, scientific and entertainment programs, as given on pages 305 to 329, reveal the wide scope of the Association's work, and a careful inspection of the many presentations should assure the intense interest which they will necessarily have for all members who register.

"California Medical Association Day" at the Exposition, Tuesday, May 26.—Mention has already been made, on page 76 of the February issue of CALIFORNIA AND WESTERN MEDICINE, of the splendid exhibits in the Hall of Medical Science of the San Diego Exposition. A letter received from Dr. Lyell C. Kinney, ex-president of the California Medical Association, states that on Sunday, March 15, more than 9,000 persons visited those exhibits which, at that time, had been only partially installed—showing clearly the interest taken by the laity in all such public health demonstrations when properly presented.

Tuesday, May 26, has been designated as "California Medical Association Day," and all signs point to a gathering of medical men and women on that occasion that will prove a peak attendance in annual session records.

Hotel Reservations Should Not Be Delayed. The last two issues of this magazine mentioned the limited hotel accommodations then still available. The Hotel Del Coronado has for some time been reserved to full capacity, and now the San Diego hotels alone must be depended upon to care for the great gathering of medical visitors to be expected. For a list of these San Diego hotels, see page 209 of the March issue.

† Editorials on subjects of scientific and clinical interest, contributed by members of the California Medical Association, are printed in the Editorial Comment column, which follows.
